www.french.emory.edu and www.italian.emory.edu

The Department of French and Italian at Emory University invites applications for a position in Italian at the rank of Full or Associate Professor. The successful candidate will have an established record of scholarship and teaching of Italian language, literature and culture at all levels. He or she will be expected to help strengthen upper-division offerings in an already flourishing undergraduate Italian studies program, as well as foster interdisciplinary endeavors with colleagues in a variety of other departments, such as Art History, History, and Comparative Literature, and will have the opportunity to work with graduate students in that capacity. We especially encourage applications from specialists in early Italian literature, but strongly encourage applications from qualified candidates in all areas of Italian Literature and Culture. Ph.D. required.

Send letter of application, C.V. and three letters of recommendation to Professor Candace Lang, Chair of Search Committee, Department of French and Italian, Emory University, Atlanta, GA 30322 We will begin reviewing applications on October 31, 2008. Emory is an AA/EO Employer.
